Property Damage Assumption of Liability

The team assumes full liability for any preventable property damage that is caused through negligence by an investigator during our investigations. Example: loose floorboards agitate a small table when walking, knocking an item off of it causing damage. This would not be preventable damage on our part and the team should not assume liability for damages out of our direct control.

Consumption of Food or Beverages

The team will assume full responsibility for any member who consumes food or beverages during an investigation. If a member is found to be consuming food or beverages that were not purchased by the investigator prior to or during an investigation, the team will contact the owner within 24 hours to report the incident. We respect the property of our clients and will not tolerate misappropriation of personal property of our clients.
